This document contains details of your cover (your policy), your responsibilities, the claims process and how and when to get in touch with us.

This PDS uses words that have special meaning. For the definition of these words, refer to pages 66-69.

When we agree to enter into your policy, we will issue you with a Certificate of Insurance.

Your Certificate of Insurance gives you specific, detailed information about your policy cover and may vary the standard terms and conditions of this PDS depending on your specific circumstances.

Carefully read this PDS and your Certificate of Insurance together to understand the cover, your obligations and to compare and consider whether this product is right for you.

By entering into your policy, you confirm that you have read or will read this PDS and your Certificate of Insurance when provided to you.

Keep these documents in a safe place for future reference.

It is very important that you comply with:

- 'Your duty to answer honestly' (see pages 34–35); and
- the terms and conditions of your policy.

If you do not, we may refuse to pay your claim or reduce the amount we pay you. By law, we may also in some circumstances cancel your policy.

If you cancel within the cooling off period, we will refund any premiums you have paid for the policy less any government levies, taxes or duties that we cannot recover. Even after this cooling off period ends, you still have cancellation rights – see page 59.

Who is this product for?

This product is designed for owners of residential rental properties that are tenanted (or expected to be tenanted) under a rental agreement of at least three months in duration.

It can cover:

- the building (unless it is a strata property); and/or
- the contents owned and provided by you specifically for the use of your tenants, against loss or damage caused by fire and explosion; malicious damage; theft; storm, rainwater and flood; accidental glass breakage; lightning; earthquake, tsunami and volcanic eruption; riot, civil commotion or industrial unrest; impact; and escape of liquid.

It also provides up to $20 million of cover for liability to pay compensation to others as a result of an accident caused by your negligence that:

- (if you have building cover) arises from your ownership of your building and its land; and/or
- (if you have contents cover) arises out of or in relation to your insured contents.

If your building is insured (or if the contents of your strata property are insured), we also cover loss of rent when the tenant cannot safely live at the property due to an insured event.

You can also apply for rent default cover, which is an optional cover for loss of unpaid rent payable under a written rental agreement by a tenant who has been evicted, leaves the property or is denied access to the property by a government authority.

This insurance is not suitable if the property is used for holiday letting, temporary sharing or house sitting arrangements. It is also unlikely to be suitable if the property is likely to be unoccupied for more than 60 days, if the property is not kept in good repair, if the property does not comply with local government and statutory requirements, or if it is under construction or major renovation. The property must be used primarily for domestic purposes.

Cover for loss or damage to your building or contents is limited to the relevant sum insured. It is important that you accurately estimate the cost of replacement for your building and/or its contents, to make sure you have adequate insurance.

Full details of the cover and applicable definitions, exclusions and limitations are set out in this PDS. You can view full details of our Target Market Determination by visiting everyday.com.au/insurance

This information does not take your personal circumstances into account. Even if you are in the target market and we offer the product to you, that does not mean that this product is in fact appropriate for you in your particular circumstances. No one knows your situation better than you, so before you make any decisions about this product, you should read this PDS to decide if this product is right for you.

Premiums explained

What is your premium?

Your premium is the amount of money you agree to pay us for your policy.

How much do I pay?

When you apply and we agree to provide you with cover, or we renew your cover, we will advise you of the premium amount, which we will confirm in your Certificate of Insurance.

How do we calculate your premium?

Your premium is calculated based on a number of criteria, such as:

- the cover you choose;
- the property and the site you want to insure;
- the limits and excesses that will apply; and
- your insurance history.

We will also look at other factors that increase or decrease the risk of a claim and factors that affect our business costs.

Minimum premiums apply which could reduce any discount you may be entitled to.

Your premium will also include amounts covering government charges, taxes or levies we are responsible for, such as GST and Stamp Duty. This information will be shown in your Certificate of Insurance.

Our Premium, Excess and Discount Guide has more information about how we calculate your premium, the excesses that apply to your policy, any discounts or other entitlements and how we settle claims. You can download a copy at everyday.com.au/insurance or call us on 1300 10 1234 to request a copy at no charge.

Your responsibilities

Paying your premium

You need to make sure your premium payment(s) are up to date. If they are not, we may cancel your policy in accordance with the law. We may also refuse to renew your policy.

If any premium instalment remains unpaid for 14 days or more, we may also refuse to pay a claim.

It is important that you contact us if your bank or credit card details change.

In the event of a total loss claim and where you pay your premium by instalments, we will deduct any unpaid premium for the period of insurance from the claim settlement sum.

For more information on ways you can pay your premium, please refer to the Premium, Excess and Discount Guide which can be found at everyday.com.au/insurance or by calling us on 1300 10 1234 to request a copy at no charge.

Your duty to answer honestly

Before you enter into, vary or renew this insurance policy with us, you have a duty to answer honestly and take reasonable care not to make any misrepresentations.

What that means is that you need to take reasonable care to provide honest, accurate and complete answers to any questions that we ask. This includes checking the information we provide to you when you apply for, renew or vary this policy, and informing us if anything has changed or is inaccurate or incomplete. If you do not correct the information, we will take it that you agree with the information and that your answers are current, accurate and complete.

We rely on your answers and information to decide whether we can insure you, on what terms and for what premium.

It is also important to understand that, in answering the questions, you are answering for yourself and anyone else to whom the questions apply. If you are not sure about the answers or the accuracy or completeness of the information, you should take the time to find out before providing a response.

If you do not take reasonable care in answering our questions or correcting the information, you may breach your duty. If that happens, your policy may be cancelled, or treated as if it never existed, and any claim may be denied or not paid in full.

If any question or information is not clear to you and you need help, you can contact us on 1300 10 1234.

Work out how much insurance you need

Many people do not have enough insurance cover for their building or contents. If you are under-insured, you will have to cover any shortfall yourself. For example:

- If the amount your building is insured for is not equal to the full cost of rebuilding it, including the cost of any structural improvements such as carports, fences and pools, as well as the cost of any demolition work, removal of debris and any architectural or council fees (other than the limited cover provided by the Additional benefit, see page 20 for details), you may be under-insured. The cost of land is not, however, included in determining your sum insured.
- If your contents sum insured is not enough to allow for the full replacement of your contents, including the contents you have made available for your tenant to use, you may be under-insured.

Under insurance is a significant issue. You should spend time to assess your needs as we cannot advise you on the amount of cover you should insure for.

We strongly recommend you use a building calculator as a guide. An example can be found at everyday.com.au/Building-Calculator

Remember, this insurance only provides cover up to the applicable limits specified in this PDS and in your Certificate of Insurance.

Review the replacement value of your property regularly

Each year at your insurance renewal, we may adjust the amount you are insured for to help the cover keep pace with inflation. In addition to this adjustment, you may also need to consider (amongst other things) the value of any new contents that you made available for your tenant to use or recently completed improvements to your building.

If you do not review the replacement value of your building and contents annually and increase your cover where appropriate, you may be or remain under-insured.

Change of occupancy type during the period of insurance

If the occupancy of your building changes from a landlord property you own but do not live in to a building you live in, or vice versa, you will need to contact us so we can change your building and/or contents cover accordingly, subject to our underwriting criteria. If you do not, we may reduce or refuse to pay a claim and cancel the policy.

Interests of others in your building and contents

You must tell us of any other party that has an ownership or financial interest in your building and contents as they may need to be noted on your policy for their interest. No party is covered for their interest unless we note them. If a credit provider is noted in your Certificate of Insurance as having an interest in your building and/or contents and your claim is paid on a cash basis, we have the option of making this payment to the credit provider in full or part payment of the claim.

More than one insured person

One policyholder may request that we vary or cancel your policy. Where possible, we will notify each policyholder. In some circumstances of family violence, where we in our absolute discretion consider that a variation or cancellation may not be in the best interest of a policyholder, we may communicate with that policyholder separately.

Each named policyholder must co-operate with us in relation to a claim and our assessment of the claim.

Paperless correspondence

You agree that we can send you communications electronically, which includes informing you that the communication (or a document forming part of the communication) can be accessed via a web address, hyperlink or other electronic means. You also agree to save or print the communication or document and store it in a safe place for future reference. You can also ask us for a paper copy.

If you do not want to receive communications electronically, let us know.

We will consider any communication or documents we send or make available to you electronically to have been received by you 24 hours from when we sent them or informed you that they are available.

You are responsible for making sure we have your correct and up-to-date postal address, email address and other contact details at all times.

Keep proof of ownership of your property

When you make a claim for loss or damage to an item we will require satisfactory proof that you owned the item and of its value or your claim may not be paid. The easiest way to do this is by keeping documents related to the item.

The types of documents we ask for depend on the situation and may include:

- purchase receipts;
- valuation certificates (provided by an Australian qualified valuer);
- credit card or bank statements;
- instruction manuals;
- guarantee or warranty certificates; and
- photographs or video/digital film of the item.

When building work is carried out

Please note that if you carry out building alterations, renovations or additions the cover provided under your policy is restricted.

If you plan to carry out building alterations, renovations or additions to your building with a total value of $50,000 or more you will need to contact us and inform us of the changes. We will confirm whether cover, subject to the exclusions below, can be extended during your renovation period.

Below we have highlighted the exclusions that apply when building works are underway. You are not covered for:

- loss or damage caused by water entering your building due to building alterations, renovations or additions;
- loss or damage as a result of theft or attempted theft by a person who is on the site with your consent or the consent of another person also residing at the property;
- loss or damage due to theft or attempted theft or where the building security has been compromised due to the works being carried out;
- legal liability in respect to any loss or damage caused by or as a consequence of the building renovations, alterations and/or additions if the total value of the project is greater than $50,000; and
- accidental damage caused by or as a consequence of the building alterations, renovations or additions.

Your policy will not cover you for loss or damage caused by the works or damage to the works. If you need cover you may need to take out a separate insurance product with another insurer. We and Everyday Insurance do not provide this cover.

Keep your building and contents in good condition and well maintained

You must take reasonable steps to maintain your building and contents in a good state of repair and condition.

This includes but is not limited to taking reasonable steps to:

- ensure that the building is watertight, structurally sound and secure;
- ensure that your tenant is taking reasonable steps to maintain the property in accordance with their rental agreement;
- ensure that gutters, downpipes and roof valleys are not clogged with debris and are not rusted, loose, falling down or missing;
- ensure that floors, walls or ceilings are intact and secure and that any damage to these items and any other parts of the building that are not the subject of a claim under this policy are repaired;
- comply with all statutory obligations, government or local authority regulations and by-laws; or
- ensure that all building maintenance or repairs to the building and/or contents are undertaken by an appropriately qualified person or licensed tradesmen.

Any loss, damage, liability, costs or expenses arising from your failure to take reasonable steps to maintain your building and contents in a good state of repair and condition will not be covered under the policy. You must also make reasonable efforts to protect your building and contents from any loss or damage. If you make a claim and knew about something that could cause loss or damage to your building or contents and you did not make reasonable efforts to avoid it before the loss or damage occurred, then your claim may not be paid. If you do suffer loss or damage to your building or contents, you must also make reasonable efforts to prevent any further loss or damage.

When your building is temporarily unoccupied

You must ensure your building is maintained while unoccupied. The maximum period your building can be unoccupied for during the period of insurance is 60 consecutive days. At any time when your building is unoccupied you need to ensure the building is maintained in a lived-in state by:

- keeping the lawns mowed and garden tidy;
- stopping regular mail and newspaper deliveries; and
- arranging for someone to check inside and outside the building at least once a week.

Let us know if your building will be unoccupied for longer than a period of 60 consecutive days. We need to know so we can tell you if we can continue to cover your building and/or contents, on what terms and for what premium.

Have a property inspection/condition report completed

You or your agent must complete a detailed property inspection/condition report:

- when a new lease or rental agreement commences;
- when an existing tenant vacates the property; or
- on an annual basis if there is a long term tenancy.

If you make a claim we may ask you for copies of relevant documents including property inspection/condition reports.

Making a claim

In the event of a claim it is good to understand the process so you know what to do and what to expect. Our claims team will support and guide you through the claim process.

What to do in the event of a claim

1	Secure your building and contents Do what you can to prevent further loss, damage, cost or liability.
2	Report the incident Report the incident or loss to the police immediately if the claim involves theft, attempted theft, malicious acts, civil unrest or impact by a vehicle and obtain an event number.
3	Lodge your claim You can lodge your claim online at everyday.com.au/myinsuranceportal or call our claims team on 1300 10 1234 .

Do not:

- admit guilt, fault or liability except to the police;
- offer or negotiate to pay any claim;
- approve any repairs, except essential repairs needed to minimise or prevent further loss or damage; or
- dispose of any damaged property.

If you have been affected by family violence and are unable to do any of the above, please contact us to discuss.

Assessing your claim

After you have lodged a claim with us, we will assess it. Where an exclusion does not apply because the loss or damage was caused or contributed to by family violence affecting you and/or your family, we will assess and grant indemnity or pay an amount that is fair and reasonable in the circumstances.

When assessing your claim, we may ask you for reasonable information and assistance to help with the process, as set out below.

We may ask you for:

- a face-to-face or telephone interview;
- written statements under oath;
- relevant documents including property inspection/condition reports;
- proof of value and ownership that we need regarding lost or damaged items, such as receipts, invoices, bank or credit card statements, contracts of sale or original photographs; and
- details of any other insurance that relates to the claim.

We will require you to:

- let us see or take possession of any damaged property;
- keep items that have been damaged and allow us to inspect them or assess repair costs;
- make your building and contents available for inspection by us or an assessor or agent appointed by us or when diagnosis is required;
- send us any communication you receive about the claim from anyone else (including letters of demand and communication about court proceedings); and
- do everything you can to help us to negotiate, defend or settle your claim or to recover costs from another party responsible for the loss or damage to your building and contents.

Claims for your building

If your building is insured and a building claim is covered under your policy, we will settle up to the sum for which your building is insured, or any lesser limit that applies, less any applicable excess. The payment amount may also be adjusted in accordance with the GST provisions in this document. If your building is destroyed or damaged as a result of an Insured event covered under this policy and occurs during the period of insurance, and if it is reasonably practicable, we will rebuild or repair your building as new. If this is not reasonably practicable, we will pay you a reasonable amount to cover the cost of rebuilding or repairing your building as new. The maximum amount payable is the building sum insured shown in your Certificate of Insurance.

However, if you decide not to proceed with the rebuild or repair of your building we will pay you the reasonable amount to cover the cost of rebuilding or repairing your building as new, or the building sum insured, whichever is lesser.

Where family violence or potential financial harm is identified or suspected, we reserve the right to consider which option is in the best interest of the person or persons to whom the cover extends and may choose to repair or pay an amount that is fair and reasonable in the circumstances.

If an authorised third party is not acting in the best interests of the policyholder, we reserve the right to override any authorisation to contact the policyholder directly.

Excesses and other deductions may be applied to these settlements.

We will do our best to source materials that are the same type, standard and specification as the original materials that require replacing. Where these materials are not available in Australia we will source and/or pay for the costs of materials that are of a similar kind or quality.

When this occurs and where the damaged part of the building is an item listed in the table on page 47, then the Matching Benefit as referenced on pages 46-52 will apply.

If you are not satisfied with the materials we find to be of a similar kind or quality and we have not commenced the repairs to your building, you may request to:

- pay any extra costs of replacing the undamaged parts of your building with the original materials to achieve a uniform appearance; or
- request we pay you what it would have reasonably cost us to repair or replace the damaged part and you can organise the repairs yourself.

Claims for your contents

If your contents are insured and a contents claim is covered under your policy, we will settle up to the sum for which your contents are insured for, less any applicable excess. The payment amount may also be adjusted in accordance with the GST provisions in this document.

If your contents are lost or damaged by an Insured event which occurs during the period of insurance, we will repair or replace any lost or damaged item if it is reasonably practicable for us to do so. If this is not reasonably practicable, we will pay you the amount it would reasonably cost you to repair or replace the item or to replace it with its nearest equivalent.

If you would like to receive a cash settlement instead of us repairing or replacing your contents, then we will pay you the amount it will cost us to repair or replace the item, or to replace it with its nearest equivalent.

The nearest equivalent will be determined having regard to the content's make, model, specification, cost, capacity and functionality.

Where family violence or potential financial harm is identified or suspected, we reserve the right to consider which option is in the best interest of the person or persons to whom the cover extends and may choose to repair or pay an amount that is fair and reasonable in the circumstances.

If an authorised third party is not acting in the best interests of the policyholder, we reserve the right to override any authorisation to contact the policyholder directly.

Repairs or replacement of your contents

What is covered	Conditions
Contents Replacement is on a new-for-old basis but does not apply to second-hand furniture or electrical items which were more than three years old at the time that they came into your possession.	We will repair or replace your contents with new items or new materials that are available at the time of repair or replacement from Australian suppliers within Australia. If we cannot source items or materials that are of the same type, standard or specification as the original materials, we will repair or replace to a similar kind or quality as if it were new or we will pay the reasonable replacement cost. When this occurs and where the damaged part of the contents is an item listed in the table on page 47, then the Matching Benefit as referenced on pages 46-52 will apply. We can replace with a different brand provided it is of similar kind or quality as the original. We will not pay any extra cost of replacing or purchasing an extended warranty on any item or provide any items of a better standard, specification or quality than as if it were new.

Matching Benefit

This section only applies to claims for the parts of your building and/or contents that are listed on page 47.

We outline on the next page what is covered and what is not covered under the Matching Benefit. In addition, there are policy 'General exclusions' on pages 29-33 that may apply.

To make things easier, we have given you some examples on pages 50-54 of how your claim settlement may be calculated based on some common scenarios our claims team encounter. Please note that any actual claim settlement will be based on the individual circumstances of your claim.

What is covered	What you are not covered for
If the claim for loss or damage due to an Insured event is covered under the policy, we may also provide coverage to replace certain undamaged materials in the same functional area or room to create a uniform appearance. This is referred to as a Matching Benefit. We will only provide this Matching Benefit where we are unable to source original materials, or materials that are the same type, standard or specification. We will only match undamaged parts to the damaged parts within a functional area or room, if they are: • continuously joined; • on the same level or floor of your building; and • made of the same material. Where this Matching Benefit may apply, we may need to add a new separator, such as a floor trim, between two or more functional areas or rooms if damage is sustained to one functional area alone. This Matching Benefit is restricted to the following undamaged materials in the same functional area or room where the damage occurred to: • wall coverings; • wall tiles; • floor coverings; and • fixed cabinets.	• loss or damage that occurs to any areas or items that are not defined or listed under the section ‘What is covered’; • costs to repair or replace undamaged materials in any adjoining functional areas or rooms; • costs to repair or replace undamaged items on different levels or floors of your building; and • costs to repair or replace undamaged garage doors, roof tiles, roof sheeting and external walls. We will only replace the damaged items, even if the undamaged items are different and do not match the new ones used for repairs.

What we mean by functional area or room

Functional area or room

Areas inside your building that are separated by walls, floors and a ceiling or used for an isolated purpose. It starts and finishes at the nearest functional area, wall, nearest doorway, archway or similar opening and/or a change in the floor or wall covering.

A passageway, hallway, stairs or corridor has the same definition as a functional area or room.

The example below shows what we mean by a functional area or room. The living room is one room, separated from the bathroom as there is a doorway and a change in floor covering from carpet to tiles. The living room is also separated from the study as there are two different uses for the two rooms and there is also an archway between the two rooms.

Matching Benefit – Example 1

If there was damage to the flooring at the spot marked 'X' in the living room, we would only repair or replace the flooring within this functional area. In this scenario, we may need to introduce a floor trim between the study and living room as per the orange line, since the damage is contained within the living room alone.

Combined rooms

Areas inside your building, excluding any outdoor areas, that have connecting rooms with identical wall and floor coverings which are shared by a common opening, such as a doorway or archway. Combined rooms will always have two or more functional areas or rooms. If there is damage to one functional area of a combined room, we will only match the sections within the damaged functional area of the combined room. In doing so, we may need to introduce a new separation such as a floor trim between the two or more functional areas.

The example below shows what we mean by a combined room. The dining room and living room is a combined room, however, it has two separate functional areas. This is because while it has the same wall and floor coverings, the room is used for two different purposes being dining and casual living. There are two separate uses for these two functional areas because there is a dining table in the dining room and there is a couch in the living room.

The dining room and living room is separated from the kitchen as there is a change in floor coverings.

Matching Benefit – Example 2

If there was damage to the flooring at the spot marked 'X' in the dining room, we would only repair or replace the flooring within this functional area up to the orange line. In this scenario, we may need to introduce a floor trim between the dining room and living room along the orange line.

Stairs

The example below shows a sunken living room which is separated by a step from the hallway. These two functional areas are separated because they are on two different levels and used for two different purposes.

Matching Benefit – Example 3

If there was damage to the flooring at the spot marked 'X' in the sunken living room, we would only repair or replace the flooring within this functional area up to the orange line. In this scenario, we may need to introduce floor trims at the base of the steps along the orange lines.

Open plan areas

Areas inside your building that continue until separated by a functional area, a different floor or wall covering and/or the nearest wall, doorway, archway or similar opening.

The example below shows an open plan area which has three separate functional areas being a kitchen, a study room and a dining room. This is because there is a stove and sink in the kitchen, a dining table and chairs in the dining room and there is an office desk and chair in the study room. This is an open plan area because all three rooms have the same wall and floor coverings and are not separated by any walls, openings or archways.

Matching Benefit – Example 4

If there was damage to the flooring at the spot marked 'X' in the dining room, we would only repair or replace the flooring within this functional area up to the orange line. In this scenario, we may need to introduce a floor trim along the orange line.

Example – What we mean by continuously joined; on the same level or floor of your building; and made of the same material.

In this example of a kitchen, we would treat areas 1, 2, 3 and 4 as separate sections because they are not continuously joined or on the same level. If there was damage to section 1 alone, we would only pay to repair or replace this section of your kitchen. In sections 2 and 3, the oven breaks up the two areas of cabinetry. If there was damage to section 3 alone, we would not repair or replace section 2.

How claims impact your insurance

After we pay a claim under your policy, other than a claim for a total loss, the amount you are insured for will remain the same as the value shown in your Certificate of Insurance at the date of loss.

If a claim is for the total loss of your building or contents, your insurance will cease as soon as we accept liability. No premium refund is due if you have paid your premium annually. If you are paying your premium monthly, we will deduct the remaining balance of your yearly premium from your claim settlement sum. You will need to contact us if you want to apply for a new policy for the building and/or contents you replace.

If there is a mortgage over your property

If a mortgagee (usually your bank or credit provider) is noted in your Certificate of Insurance and you have a claim which is covered and settled on a cash basis, we will, if legally obligated, make this payment to the mortgagee in full or part settlement of your claim. In this situation, we will pay the mortgagee the amount we pay to settle the claim, up to the amount outstanding under your mortgage. We only cover your interest in the insured property, unless we specifically include cover for the interest of a third party.

Rights under this policy

A person may have rights under this policy, including the right to make a claim and to receive a benefit from the claim, although the person is not a policyholder. These rights arise in circumstances including where the person:

- is a third party beneficiary under the Insurance Contracts Act 1984;
- is specified or referred in this policy as a person to whom the benefit of this policy extends; or
- has an interest (usually a pecuniary or economic interest) in the building and/or contents.

These rights are subject to the terms and conditions of this policy and the provisions of relevant legislation.

Under this policy, these persons may include:

- a person defined as ‘Family’ (see page 66);
- visitors to your site; and/or
- credit providers.

Understanding your excess

The excess is the amount you are required to pay or bear when you make a claim under your policy. Your policy excesses are explained in this PDS and are shown in your Certificate of Insurance.

Excess types

There are different types of excesses, depending on what your claim relates to and the type of cover you have chosen. Basic excess is the amount you have chosen for your building and/or contents excess on your policy. You will need to pay this on each claim made under your policy, unless otherwise specified.

You will find the amount of each excess in your Certificate of Insurance.

Claims made under:

- earthquake or flood will be subject to the higher of your selected basic excess or a fixed excess of $500 for each event;
- the Additional benefit cover for ‘Malicious acts and theft by tenants’ will be subject to the higher of either your selected basic excess or a fixed excess of $500 for each event;
- the Optional benefit for ‘rent default and legal expenses’ will be subject to a fixed excess of $400. Your selected basic excess does not apply for this benefit; and
- the Optional benefit ‘Electrical motor burnout’ will be subject to a fixed excess of $100 for any claim made under this benefit. Your selected basic excess does not apply to claims made under this Optional benefit.

For more information about how we calculate excesses, or examples of how we may settle claims, please refer to the Premium, Excess and Discount Guide which can be found at everyday.com.au/insurance or by calling us on 1300 10 1234 to request a copy at no charge.

When to contact us

Changing your cover

We understand that your circumstances may change. If this occurs, we need you to contact us promptly to apply to amend cover during the period of insurance. It is important to note that if you make a request to amend your cover this may affect your premium.

You must also comply with ‘Your duty to answer honestly’ (see pages 34-35).

Any proposed changes to your cover will be subject to acceptance.

Renewing your policy

1	To ensure continuing protection we will send you a renewal offer at least 14 days prior to the renewal date of the policy. It will set out information such as the premium and excess for the new period, any fees that may apply, information you have previously told us, and it may also include notice of any proposed changes to the terms of the policy to be renewed. In some cases, we may offer to renew your policy with a different level of cover.
2	Where you receive a renewal offer, you must tell us if the information contained in it is incorrect or incomplete and you must comply with ‘Your duty to answer honestly’ (see pages 34-35). If you do not we may reduce or refuse to pay a claim or cancel the renewed policy.
3	If you do not wish to proceed with a renewal, or if you need to disclose any further information to us, please just call us at least 2 business days before the renewal date. Unless you tell us you do not wish to proceed with renewal, we will automatically deduct/charge the renewal premium from your nominated account/ credit card. You also have a 14 day cooling off period following the renewal of your policy that allows you to cancel your policy and receive a refund of the premium paid (see the 14 day cooling off period for further information). You can also cancel after the 14 day cooling off period (see Cancelling your policy for further information).
4	If we do not offer to renew your policy, we will send you a notice telling you this.

Alternatively, if you have opted out of automatic renewal, we will send you a notice advising you whether we will offer renewal, and if so, asking you to contact us if you would like to continue your cover. If you do not contact us, your policy will lapse. You can opt-out by calling us on 1300 10 1234.

Each renewal is a separate policy, not an extension of the prior policy.

This PDS (together with any amendments, updates or endorsements) also applies to any offer of renewal we make, unless we tell you otherwise or issue you with a new updated PDS or Supplementary PDS amending the PDS terms.

Cancelling your policy

If you want to cancel

You may cancel your policy by contacting us.

If you paid an annual premium, we will refund the full amount, less:

- the amount covering the period you were insured for; and
- government or statutory charges we are unable to recover.

If you pay your premium by monthly instalments we will not provide a refund.

When we may cancel your policy

We may cancel your policy where permitted by and in accordance with the law. For example, if you:

- do not comply with the policy terms and conditions;
- do not pay your premium as agreed;
- make a fraudulent claim;
- did not comply with 'Your duty to answer honestly'; or
- misrepresented information when you entered into your policy.

If we pay a claim for a total loss, your policy comes to an end and there is no refund of premium.
